Milloff, who playlast year's team, has been in action against the Western team before, having played in the game at the Armory last year.

flaymond l'eck, who held the schoolboy record last year in basket shooting, is captain of the Western team and is playing center this season. Lester Peine is at left forward, his old position last season. Stuart Smith, right forward, was a second string player last season, but has played against Business before. Richard Sargeant and John Whelchel played part of the season last year. It was furgeant's ability in keeping Culligan covered in the final game for the title last season that allowed Western to last season that allowed Western to Both Business and Western have High School by 64 to 14, and Friends by 59 to 29. Business won out over tionzaga by 71 to 29 and defeated Friends by 82 to 52. A comparison of the teams on the two battles played would tend to show that Eusiness is better scenar machine but that a better scoring machine, but that Western has something on the Busi-ness players when it comes to keeping down the scoring.

The game is expected to draw one of the biggest crowds in the history of scholastic basketball in this city. Last year at the two little games in which these teams played standing room was at a premium. James lughes is down to refered the contest and Fred Rice will umpire.

While the high schools do not get out until after midweek for their have gone home. Just before the basketball game with Eastern last Friday letters were awarded to the football players. Despite the fact that there were seventeen players on the squad but nine letters were given cost by the school.

Brewer, Carter, Wallace, Stubbs, Hauser, Traplet, O. Kelly and Davidson were given their sweaters with the "St. A." while Rust, Johnson, Brock, Berry, Canp. M. Keily, Morse, Lee, and McClay were awarded numerals.

Business High School will be out in force tomorrow night for the tootball supper at which the letter men will elect a captain. Business was second in the football championship series this year, it being the third year for Coach Paul White. Rumor has it that Business will be without its coach next fall as he is expecting to take up medical work in the West.

Jakey Roberts will get his Tech basketball team under way during the week it is understood. Tech will make a bid for independent honors make a bid for independent noners and should have no difficulty in ar-ranging games with the other school-boy lives. I used to think of the game as a great sport, but what I've read for the past year has cured me. Now I'm off the whole bunch.

Before baseball can again begin to reach its old place in the hearts the team will be worthy of support." of the American people, it will have to cure just such folks as this. Bob Groom thought Griff should have offered more than was offered back in Texas Trying to Raise played in two regular contests this 1913 and, when it wasn't forthcoming, Bob signed with the Feds, playing winter. Western defeated Alexandria with the Ct. I will be the contests the first the contests of with the St. Louis club for the past two seasons. If Bob is to be damned by the moguls, he will have many supporters in the ranks of the fans. They will argue just as he did above, that Bob couldn't get the raise from the Washington club and so went where he could get it. Now that the C. L. Brock, park superintendent, who smiles. warfare is to cease, these fans say, why should Bob be made to suffer?

On the other hand, how about the reward coming to those players who low cork oaks from Spain to be planted and tried out here. Other botanical activities of the city this season have mands of help for them. Perhaps, here and there may be found a loyal 15,000 pansies in the municipal greenplayer who did not gain from the evil conditions existing for the past two years. Didn't Walter Johnson gain from the presence of the Feds in the rare plants, which he believes will luxfield? John Henry refused to use war conditions as an argument for more dower beds and other beds near the money and is all the more respected by the Old Fox, but can as much be the beds and other beds near the money and is all the more respected by the Old Fox, but can as much be the beds and other beds near the loser planted with winter flewers. said for some others on the Washington club? The same argument goes with every other club in baseball. Tris Speaker squeezed Lannin to the holidays the St. Albans school lads limit when he returned from the now-famous tour of the world. He knew the Feds wanted him and didn't hesitate to say so. Lannin had to give him the salary he demanded. Just what will be done with these "jumpers" cannot now be said, but it is a cinch that they are no worse in jumping for more money than those who stayed after holding up their

> The upshot of this whole imbroglio will be a great shrinking in salaries. Those now working out wartime salaries are almost sure to see them cut when next they attempt to sign up. It is a proved fact that the clubs cannot afford to pay present salaries. This goes for major and minor leagues, too. Frank Baker's "demand" will shortly become a Two months ago he might have hooked up for far more money "request." than he will now. He made the mistake of waiting too long. The market has sagged on him, that's all. It is going to sag on many more before another winter rolls around. The day of the fat envelope has gone, not to return for a while. No player now in the game will be in uniform when again some adventurer attempts to break into the coffers of organized baseball and salaries boom.

Matching Fred Fulton with Jess Willard, agreeing to pay the world's champion more than $30,000, is a great gamble for the promoters. Who is Fulton? He has stalked out of the Minnesota woods, knocking opponents right and left. Seeing in him the "mystery of the ring," some wise fellow has groomed him for a strike for the crown. But who are the fans who will pay hard money to see such a bout, Willard vs. Fulton? The champion may be a great hitter. He hit a man named Johnson once and got a reputation, though Johnson was then on the decline. Now he will get a chance to hit a big, green boxer named Fulton. If he does, he will have achieved little. Sure, he will have collected a fat prize, but he will from before long. The Gonzaga team not have done anything worth while in his line of business. The promoters of this bout will receive their deserts if they have to dig into their pockets Pennsylvania football doings are most interesting. With all the undergraduates present and voting, Bill Hollenback is backed to the limit in his demand for new blood in the management of the eleven on Franklin Willie Whiting and Carroll Donnelly Field. When the smoke clears away it is discovered that the majority has lost out and that the old guard is still in the saddle. Now let the undergraduates come out strongly and decline to support the regime that can promise little in the way of advance. The Quakers have been so banged and battered that they may be getting accustomed to the whole program by now. The history of football shows that the greatest occess comes from team work. This applies to the university as much as to the Indoor Tennis Court players. If the university is pulling together, the team knows it and achieves equal harmony. If cliques, petty politics and frats are allowed to interfere with the eleven, the university is split asunder and so is the football team. The story of Pennsylvania for the past five years at least is just such a story and the Pennsylvania eleven has suffered accordingly. The time for a new deal has come, but the managers seem to have failed to bring it about.

There you have in a nutshell Manager Clark Griffith's unusings following the peace negotiations in New York. With the exception of a game in Youngstown. Ohio, where the local lads were pitted against an eleven of ex-collegians. the Vigilants have not lost a single game this year.

Yesterday's contest attracted goodly throng, and although the field was too heavy for fast running an interesting exhibition of kicking was seen and the spectators appeared pleased with the performance. Langer kicked a field goal in the first period and no more scoring was seen until the third

In the third period a series of line plunges and a costly fumble by the All-Stars netted the Vigilants their first touchdown. Again in the final period Derby and Edwards worked the ball to the 5-yard line from which place Derby scored on an off tackle plunge.
